PERSUASION STRATEGIES Anti-Corporate Bias

Where does Corporate America stand today in terms of public perception, and how does this impact individual corporate defendants? Persuasion Strategies conducted its own national survey of juries and judges to identify seven conclusions that take the guesswork out of jury selection.

Jurors versus Judges on Ethics and Law

When personal ethics and law conflict, which should you follow?

Judges Say

Personal Ethics

33%

Jurors Say Personal Ethics

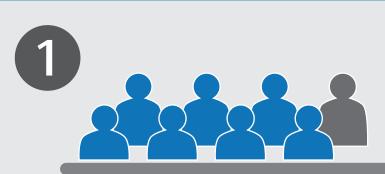

Judges Say the Law

Jurors Say the Law

Public (Mis)Perceptions of Corporations

Business Executive Mistrust

Executives often try to cover up the harm they do

87% Agree

Business executives share my values

70% Agree

Corporate Mistrust

If a company can benefit financially by lying, it probably will

85% Agree

Corporations should be held to a higher standard of responsibility than individuals are

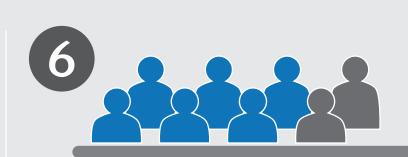

77% Agree

Government Mistrust

Government favors large corporations more than ordinary Americans

83% Agree

Government needs to police corporations more

75% Agree

Trust of the Individual over the Corporation

the case must have merit

72% Agree

Utah jurors rank among the most technologically savvy in the country, with over 76 percent using personal computers on a regular basis.

Utah Note

Utah jurors have a higher than average sense of personal responsibility, notable technical sophistication, enhanced emphasis on the ethical elements of parties' conduct over and above the legal aspects of the case, and a heightened role for the family and familial-type relationships in all aspects of society.

Utah Note

Salt Lake City jurors are conservative in awarding damages. They are extremely tamily-oriented and value commitment to family, tradition and group goals. Although typified by strong religious conservatism, evidence of unethical business practices is not more offensive in this venue than in others across the country.

How to avoid the anti-corporate bias pitfalls:

Before Litigation: • Let the public hear from your

- executives • Make social responsibility count
- Stay abreast of public
- perceptions of industry • Exceed governmental regulations
- as an external communication
- Treat every internal communication

In the Courtroom:

- Plan early to differentiate your company Prepare your witnesses as
- if the entire case depends on their depositions Communicate remorse
- appropriately

Source: Persuasion Strategies National Surveys

