ABA Section of Environment, Energy and Resources Announces Top 10 Honorees in Law Firm Recognition Program

CHICAGO, July 28, 2015 — The American Bar Association Section of Environment, Energy, and Resources announces the inaugural annual law firm regional recognition program for the West, South, Southeast, Midwest, Northeast, and D.C. regions. The Top 10 represent the firms, by region, that have the largest number of SEER members - <http://www.ambar.org/EnvironTop10>

The Top 10 list reflects those law firms that value the networking, resources and opportunities offered to their lawyers by SEER. The Section offers leading edge conferences and publications and has a large and diverse membership that includes lawyers in private practice, government lawyers, in house lawyers, lawyers with NGOs, and academics.

The practice of environment, energy, and resource law is enhanced by lawyers with differing experiences and viewpoints who are dedicated to the pursuit of excellence and professionalism. As a member-run organization, we depend on the commitment of law firms to recognize the value of their lawyers being members of SEER.

“The Section’s new Top 10 program recognizes law firms in each region of the country that have made a significant commitment to Section membership,” said Steven Miano, Section Chair. “Their support enables the Section to continue its mission to advance the practice of environmental, energy and resources law.”

The Top 10 list was compiled as of January 31, 2015 based on the ABA’s membership statistics. The Top 10 list for 2016 will be based on the number of SEER members a firm has as of March 31, 2016.

The top ten firms by region are:
