Dmetri provides sophisticated counsel to companies at all stages of the corporate life cycle from entity selection and formation to financing and capitalization, general corporate counsel, and a variety of merger and acquisition transactions.

His experience includes working with clients of all sizes from early stage start-ups to large private and public companies.

Dmetri is also well versed in performing quick and efficient due diligence projects, utilizing artificial intelligence, in connection with early stage start-up financings to large stock and asset acquisitions, and mergers. Dmetri is also skilled at commercial contract review and preparing and negotiating client's commercial agreements in a way that will protect and promote their interests.

Prior to joining Holland & Hart, Dmetri was a Corporate and Emerging Companies associate at Bodman PLC and played two years of professional ice hockey in the BCHL and NAHL.
