With 37 years of experience, Stephen Novacek represents a wide range of real estate clients.

His clients include lenders, title companies, real estate developers, sellers, buyers, landlords, and tenants while counseling them exclusively in the field of real property law.

Stephen helps clients finance real estate (construction and term), including real property and asset secured and unsecured loans and lines of credit. He also assists clients with real estate development, including shopping centers, planned residential, and mixed use communities. He counsels commercial and business clients with office and other commercial project acquisitions. He also counsels clients regarding sales, planning, and financing. He serves as local Nevada counsel in large multi-state loan and acquisition transactions.
