Drawing from his experience as a former CPA, Conrad provides business-oriented counsel on complex US federal income tax matters.

Conrad advises on domestic and cross-border mergers, acquisitions, restructurings, financings, and other transactions. He provides counsel throughout the lifecycle of a transaction, including assistance with pre-transaction structuring, transaction documents, and post-transaction tax considerations.

Conrad ensures comprehensive client service across all industries by working closely with other members of the transaction team to achieve the client's tax objectives.

Before joining Holland & Hart, Conrad worked as part of the Transaction Tax Services team at the accounting firm Clifton Larson Allen, LLP.
