Lauren's approach to client service was forged working for almost a decade in the hospitality industry. She is committed to creating positive client experiences through empathy, clear communication, and responsiveness.

Lauren is equally at home representing Fortune 500 and large tech companies and small resort town businesses. She has experience counseling clients at all stages of a case in a broad spectrum of industries, including construction, insurance, manufacturing, pharmaceuticals, and technology.

Working for six years at the Nevada Supreme Court as a judicial clerk and staff attorney, Lauren honed her appellate strategy skills. Clients benefit from her strengths to identify and fortify weaknesses in legal arguments before litigation starts, during litigation, and through the appellate process, breach of contract disputes, class actions, economic torts, trademark infringement, trade secrets, and state and federal RICO. Her extensive background in the legal industry gives her unique insights into advising and negotiating compelling arguments to advance her clients' interest.

Before joining Holland & Hart, Lauren practiced commercial litigation at two Am Law 200 firms and worked as a Central Staff Attorney and Judicial Clerk for Judge Kristina Pickering of the Supreme Court of Nevada.
