Kyle brings government investigation experience and policy insight to drive results for clients in complex commercial litigation.

Kyle is a commercial litigator who draws on his experience working for the House of Representatives oversight committee to provide informed guidance in matters involving government investigations, regulatory compliance, and energy policy. His background in federal oversight equips him to anticipate how government agencies think and act, making him a valuable resource for clients operating in regulated industries, particularly energy and natural resources.

Skilled at navigating complex, high-stakes disputes, he delivers the concrete results clients need — whether through negotiated resolution or courtroom advocacy.

Before joining Holland & Hart, Kyle served as Counsel to the U.S. House Committee on Oversight & Accountability, where he directed multi-agency investigations, engaged the FBI, DHS, FinCEN, DOD, and DEA, and authored reports shaping federal agency response. He also clerked at the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office, where he supported felony homicide prosecutions.
