

Holland & Hart Praised for Firm Culture

Holland & Hart Praised for Firm Culture

Insight — 6/12/2009 12:00:00 AM

Holland & Hart is very pleased to be mentioned by The Wall Street Journal's Law Blog, The American Lawyer and the Denver Business Journal, among others, for its balanced firm culture.

Susan Beck's piece, "Stretched Too Far," featured in the June issue of The American Lawyer says, "Of the law firms I've covered, the one that has struck me as having the happiest, most well-rounded lawyers and has been consistently delightful to deal with, is Holland & Hart.

"Holland & Hart lawyers put in an honest day's work, but leave time to ski, and hike, and fish, and enjoy life outside their offices," it continues. "And they genuinely seem to like each other. They've never demoted a partner to nonequity status, never merged with a big firm to improve their 'platform,' never boosted their partner-associate ratio beyond 1:1, and never laid off associates for economic reasons." Read the full article from The American Lawyer here.

At Holland & Hart, we pride ourselves on our unique culture rooted in a long tradition of fostering and maintaining a work environment in which the diversity of each individual is valued, supported, and celebrated. The firm is committed to fostering a workplace where individuals can pursue fulfillment of their professional and personal goals.

The assessments made by these leading authorities is not only a reflection of our work environment, but is also indicative of how we work with our clients. Holland & Hart strives to lead our profession by providing the highest level of service and loyalty to our clients while establishing and maintaining collegial working relationships that are enhanced by our values.

Subscribe to get our Insights delivered to your inbox.

This publication is designed to provide general information on pertinent legal topics. The statements made are provided for educational purposes only. They do not constitute legal or financial advice nor do they necessarily reflect the views of Holland & Hart LLP or any of its attorneys other than the author(s). This publication is not intended to create an attorney-client relationship between you and Holland & Hart LLP. Substantive changes in the law subsequent to the date of this publication might affect the analysis or commentary. Similarly, the analysis may differ depending on the jurisdiction or circumstances. If you have specific questions as to the application of the law to your activities, you should seek the advice of your legal counsel.