

Separation Anxiety: Noncompete agreements protect the practice when a veterinarian leaves, but they are not always enforceable

Insight — August/September 2018

Holland & Hart's Animal Health and Pet Products Industry Group co-chair and corporate attorney Nicole Snyder discusses noncompete agreements as they pertain to veterinary practices, including the types of agreements in play, the pros and cons of each, and the issues of enforceability, in the article titled "Separation anxiety" published by Today's Veterinary Business in its August/September 2018 issue.

Nicole Snyder is a partner at Holland & Hart, where she advises clients on mergers, acquisitions and complex employment matters. She is a member of the American Veterinarian Medical Law Association and co-chairs the firm's Animal Health and Pet Products Industry Group.

To read the full article, click here.

---

This publication is designed to provide general information on pertinent legal topics. The statements made are provided for educational purposes only. They do not constitute legal or financial advice nor do they necessarily reflect the views of Holland & Hart LLP or any of its attorneys other than the author(s). This publication is not intended to create an attorney-client relationship between you and Holland & Hart LLP. Substantive changes in the law subsequent to the date of this publication might affect the analysis or commentary. Similarly, the analysis may differ depending on the jurisdiction or circumstances. If you have specific questions as to the application of the law to your activities, you should seek the advice of your legal counsel.