

Beth Nedrow

Partner
406.896.4635
Billings
enedrow@hollandhart.com

Benefit Plan Committees: From "Blah" to "Hurrah!"

Journal of Compensation and Benefits

Insight — 03/2020-04/2020

This article is reprinted with the publisher's permission, and originally appeared in the Journal of Compensation and Benefits March/April 2020 edition, published by Thomson Reuters. Copying or distribution without the publisher's permission is prohibited.

Benefit Committees administer company benefit plans and programs, but many employers do not consider what scope or structure best fits their organization. This article explores best practices and processes when deciding whether and how to establish or rejuvenate a benefit plan committee.

Beth Nedrow is a tax and benefits partner in Holland & Hart's Billings, Montana office. Beth has over 20 years' experience advising companies on executive compensation and employee benefits matters. Her broad practice covers both public and private companies, retirement and welfare plans, M&A transactions, and compliance work. Nedrow is adept at untangling complex Section 409A problems, drafting and documenting effective equity and executive compensation arrangements, and assisting on efficient ways of performing ERISA fiduciary functions.

Please click here to read the full article: Benefit Plan Committees: From "Blah" to "Hurrah!"

This publication is designed to provide general information on pertinent legal topics. The statements made are provided for educational purposes only. They do not constitute legal or financial advice nor do they necessarily reflect the views of Holland & Hart LLP or any of its attorneys other than the author(s). This publication is not intended to create an attorney-client relationship between you and Holland & Hart LLP. Substantive changes in the law subsequent to the date of this publication might affect the analysis or commentary. Similarly, the analysis may differ depending on the jurisdiction or circumstances. If you have specific questions as to the application of the law to your activities, you should seek the advice of your legal counsel.