

Beth Nedrow

Partner
406.896.4635
Billings
enedrow@hollandhart.com

Under the Radar: Employee Benefit Developments in 2020

And, believe it or not, they're not COVID-related

Insight — November 12, 2020

The story of the year has been the coronavirus. COVID-19 has dominated news headlines, social media, and virtually every aspect of our lives. The virus has likewise dominated legal and tax news. Lawmakers and agencies have enacted multiple pieces of legislation and other guidance to help employers navigate the changes COVID-19 has wrought in the workplace. Those new laws and rules have rightly been the focus of our attention. But at some point before the end of 2020, it's worthwhile to look at the other legal developments that have flown under the radar this year. Here's a roundup.

Please click here to read the full article: Under the Radar: Employee Benefit Developments in 2020.

This article originally appeared in the November/December 2020 issue of Tax Executive, a publication of Tax Executives Institute. Reprinted with the publisher's permission.

About the Author:

Elizabeth Nedrow is a tax and benefits partner in Holland & Hart's Billings, Montana office. Beth has over 20 years' experience advising companies on executive compensation and employee benefits matters. Her broad practice covers both public and private companies, retirement and welfare plans, M&A transactions, and compliance work.

This publication is designed to provide general information on pertinent legal topics. The statements made are provided for educational purposes only. They do not constitute legal or financial advice nor do they necessarily reflect the views of Holland & Hart LLP or any of its attorneys other than the author(s). This publication is not intended to create an attorney-client relationship between you and Holland & Hart LLP. Substantive changes in the law subsequent to the date of this publication might affect the analysis or commentary. Similarly, the analysis may differ depending on the jurisdiction or circumstances. If you have specific questions as to the application of the law to your activities, you should seek the advice of your legal counsel.